

A consistent male, native Dari (Farsi) speaking support worker for Melbourne's south-east.

Provider

TrueSide is an independent, founder-operated NDIS support business. Participants work with the same regular support worker rather than a rotating roster, except during unavoidable leave or emergencies. Support is person-centred, culturally responsive and available in English and Dari (Farsi).

Core supports

- Assistance with self-care and daily personal activities
- Community participation and social access
- Transport to appointments, education and activities
- Household tasks and daily living assistance

Out of scope: nursing, high-intensity supports, behaviour support, restrictive practices, SIL, SDA and plan management. Unsuitable referrals are declined transparently and redirected where possible.

Participants and pricing

- Plan-managed and self-managed participants
- Rates at or below current NDIS 2026-27 price limits
- Correct support item codes and clear invoices
- Service Agreement, Schedule of Fees and consent forms supplied before support begins

Referral process

- Referral acknowledged within 1 business day
- Free meet and greet arranged with the participant
- Compliance documents available on request
- Progress notes available by agreement; participant choice and privacy remain central
